The Onslaught of Tyranny Continues: CDC OK's Family Separations

Students May Be Kept From Parents Overnight as Ohio Sets Up COVID-19 FEMA Camps

By Shane Trejo Sep 7, 2020 | Original Big League Politics article here.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) is warning parents that their children may be kept from their parents overnight due to COVID-19 concerns, as states set up COVID-19 shelters where infected individuals could be forcibly quarantined.

"Tell school administrators about any extra supplies your child may need to safely make it through a night away from home," the CDC wrote to parents in their advisory. "Bring extra medicines, special foods, or supplies your child would need if separated overnight.

“Complete a backpack card and tuck one in your child’s backpack and your wallet,” they added.

At the same time, Ohio is taking measures to create isolation camps with assistance from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) that can house COVID-19 patients in certain instances.

Ohio Department of Health (ODH) Interim Director Lance Himes issued a state-wide order on Aug. 31 enacting these camps to house people who “are unable to safely self-quarantine in their place of residence and to isolate those diagnosed with or showing symptoms of COVID-19.”

The Ohio camps will be used to house people who

- “test positive for COVID-19 who do not require hospitalization but need isolation (including those exiting from hospitals);
- those who have been exposed to COVID-19 who do not require hospitalization; and
- asymptomatic high-risk individuals needing social distancing as a precautionary measure.”

Dan Tierney, who works as the press secretary to Ohio’s Republican Governor Mike DeWine, downplayed any worries about the FEMA camps being erected throughout the state; he said during a press conference:

> “The order gives the state of Ohio the ability to draw down federal funding to reimburse the local EMA and health department when a non-congregate shelter is needed. These shelters are used when an individual is unable to safely quarantine or isolate in their home.
> “The nature of these shelters is no different than what the FEMA and others stand-up during natural disasters. The intent of the order is to provide a safe and healthy space for the individual who needs to be quarantined or isolated as determined by local needs. This also helps protect family members from exposure. FEMA has FAQ’s and more information available. ‘As determined by local needs’ remains ambiguous as an answer to the question of who decides whether a person’s residence is safe.”

Big League Politics has reported on the previously unfathomable abuses that are being introduced to society due to COVID-19 mass hysteria:

- A so-called medical expert, drunk off power due because of the worldwide COVID-19 pandemic, is now suggesting "morality pills" for the public to stop them from resisting their top-down mandates.

- Parker Crutchfield, who works as the Associate Professor of Medical Ethics, Humanities and Law at Western Michigan University, made the suggestion in an op/ed published in The Conversation: "When someone chooses not to follow public health guidelines around the coronavirus, they're defecting from the public good,"

- Crutchfield is proposing a solution to drug society so that individuals will no longer have the freedom of choice and be at the mercy of the whims of whoever is in power.

Crutchfield uses "experimental economics" to justify his highly invasive solution that is something out of "Brave New World."
her writes:

> "Could a psychoactive pill be the solution to the pandemic? It's a far-out proposal that's bound to be controversial, but one I believe is worth at least considering, given the importance of social cooperation in the struggle to get COVID-19 under control.
> "Moral enhancement is the use of substances to make you more moral. The psychoactive substances act on your ability to reason about what the right thing to do is, or your ability to be empathetic or altruistic or cooperative"

He brings up heinous abuses that the government has performed in the past to justify new abuses in the current age: "The scenario in which the government forces an immunity booster upon everyone is plausible. And the military has been forcing enhancements like vaccines or "uppers" upon soldiers for a long time."

Just ike after the planned Sept. 11, 2001 "attacks" on the Pentagon and World Trade Center, these emergency actions taken during the Covid-1984 Scamdemic could be made permanent. The era of the globalist pandemic has arrived, and human liberty is in grave danger as a result.

Scientific Experts Admit COVID-19 Tests are Too Sensitive to Virus, Resulting in Countless False Positives

By Shane Trejo, Sep 5, 2020

The entire shutdown was based on this.

Scientific experts are raising awareness about the questionable efficacy of COVID-19 tests, claiming that they are too sensitive to the virus and recording an astronomical amount of false positives as a result.

The experts are claiming that people taking the tests are showing up with “positive” results even though there is virtually no way they could ever spread COVID-19 with the negligable amount of the virus in their system. The tests are picking up trace levels of COVID-19 and reporting them as positive tests, which fuels the media-driven hysteria.

The PCR tests that have been most regularly used for COVID-19 screenings gives a yes-or-no response regarding infections. The experts claim that this is woefully inaccurate to make public health considerations.

Dr. Michael Mina, who is an epidemiologist at the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health.

> "We've been using one type of data for everything, and that is just plus or minus — that's all. We're using that for clinical diagnostics, for public health, for policy decision-making."

Dr. Mina is calling for more COVID-19 tests but not under the regime that is currently in place throughout the country right now. He said:

> "In fact, we should be ramping up testing of all different people, but we have to do it through whole different mechanisms."

The Trump administration announced last week that they will be purchasing 150 million rapid tests, which experts say is more accurate because they determine how much of the virus is in a particular individual. This information can more accurately determine who needs to be quarantined.

"It's really irresponsible, I think, to forgo the recognition that this is a quantitative issue," Dr. Mina said.

Sets of testing data in Massachusetts, Nevada and New York show that up to 90 percent of people testing positive carried barely any virus. Of course, this news is only being released now that the vast majority of the public has already lost their souls to the chaos and confusion of the Covid-1984 Scamdemic.

Big League Politics has reported about many abnormalities with the COVID-19 testing numbers, including widespread reporting errors in Florida that were used to keep the shutdown going:

- The Florida Department of Health is scrambling after fraud was discovered in how COVID-19 testing rates were being reported across the state.

- After the health department released a report showing a stunning statewide positivity rate of 11 percent, analysis of the numbers revealed severe irregularities. Many labs reported 100 percent positivity, meaning that every test came back positive.

- In addition to the labs reporting 100 percent positivity, there were other testing facilities that reported abnormal levels of positive tests. FOX 35 found that Centra Care reported that 83 people who submitted tests were all counted as positive. The Orlando Veteran's Affairs Medical Center reported a 76 percent positivity rate, NCF Diagnostics reported tests at a 88 percent positivity rate, and Orlando Health reported a 98 percent positivity rate.

- Orlando Health has admitted that the results from the health department's report are dubious. They said that their positivity rate was only 9.4 percent, not 98 percent as it was shown in the report. This casts major doubt regarding the accuracy of the total cases that have been reported in Florida.

- The fake news has used Florida as an example to bolster their COVID-19 mass hysteria due to all of the supposed cases that were popping up throughout the states. Reports of these irregularities drive a stake through the heart of the establishment's fear-driven narrative regarding COVID-19.

The COVID-1984 Scamdemic may be the cruelest hoax in the history of mankind.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) is warning parents that their children may be kept from their parents overnight due to COVID-19 concerns, as states set up COVID-19 shelters where infected individuals could be forcibly quarantined.

"Tell school administrators about any extra supplies your child may need to safely make it through a night away from home," the CDC wrote to parents in their advisory. "Bring extra medicines, special foods, or supplies your child would need if separated overnight.

Ohio FEMA Camps – Still More Questions Than Answers

By Jack Windsor Sept 4, 2020 | Original Ohio Start article here.

The Ohio Star reported on September 3 that Ohio Department of Health (ODH) Interim Director Lance Himes released an order on August 31 – an order creating Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) shelters and legalizing their use for people who "are unable to safely self-quarantine in their place of residence and to isolate those diagnosed with or showing symptoms of COVID-19."

The non-congregate FEMA sheltering will be utilized throughout the state for people, according to the examples given by Himes, who "test positive for COVID-19 who do not require hospitalization but need isolation (including those exiting from hospitals); those who have been exposed to COVID-19 who do not require hospitalization; and asymptomatic high-risk individuals needing social distancing as a precautionary measure."

Ohio Emergency Management Agency (EMA) is to secure the necessary approvals for the use of non-congregate sheltering and local health officials are to be on the lookout for both public and private spaces to be utilized for the FEMA camps.

When state officials determine the need to utilize the camps EMA is authorized to coordinate with state agencies.

State-funded colleges and universities are required to hand over their vacant buildings and grounds for use under the order.

The reporter from WMFD-TV in Mansfield asked Ohio Republican Governor Mike DeWine for more details about the order during the press conference on September 3. The question and answer can be found below.

After the 2 o'clock presser, The Star followed-up with DeWine's Press Secretary Dan Tierney for clarification on the question asked during the Thursday press conference.

Tierney responded, "The order gives the state of Ohio the ability to draw down federal funding to reimburse the local EMA and health department when a non-congregate shelter is needed. These shelters are used when an individual is unable to safely quarantine or isolate in their home. The nature of these shelters is no different than what the EMA and others stand-up during natural disasters. The intent of the order is to provide a safe and healthy space for the individual who needs to be quarantined or isolated as determined by local needs. This also helps protect family members from exposure. FEMA has FAQ's and more information available."

"As determined by local needs' remains ambiguous as an answer to the question of who decides whether a person's residence is safe."

The Star pressed with an additional question, "Would the non-congregate sheltering apply to Ohioans of all ages? That is, if a single parent has a one-bathroom apartment and a child is deemed to have had high exposure to COVID-19 at school and the health department determines that the child needs to isolate but also deems the single parent's dwelling unsafe . . . is the child directed to the shelter?"

The response from the governor's spokesperson, "Again, the nature of these shelters is typically for natural disasters. Usually, people seek alternate shelter well before the rare cases where local authorities might condemn a property due to a natural disaster."

Additional questions asked to Tierney and the ODH but were not yet answered by the time this article published included:

- What are the necessary actions to procure space?

- Our hospitals are going broke and our previous spaces (Columbus Convention Center) were never used and cost a lot of money to build-out . . why are we doing this now when the virus is under control?

The second-amended order for non-congregate sheltering to be utilized throughout Ohio expiration is set for “ninety (90) days or at a time to be determined by the Director of Health, whichever is sooner.
